

Dear Parents / Careers,

It is important to come to school early and on time so we have a lot of time to learn new things everyday. If you don't come to school early your child's attendance will drop down and will also be letting the class down with the number of lates.

If your child is late they will face the worst consequences. For example, they will not be able to achieve their highest goals in their subjects or life, even if your child comes in to school late and the teacher has already started explaining the lesson they won't be able to understand what they don't know. But if your child is really eager to learn, they really won't know what to do.

Finally, we would like to remind you that if your child is well enough to play computer games and watch tv they are well enough to come to school to learn more and get a better education.

Yours Sincerely,
